An examination of the processes by which gender is constructed in the mass communication media. Students will be asked to consider how the technical, economic, and political constraints and capabilities of the media construct images of gender for audiences.

Preparation for Course
P: COM 25000, COM 25000D, JOUR C200 or permission of instructor.

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES